My Weekend: Dancer and choreographer Tom Shilcock on early starts, breakfast burritos, and long walks

Can You Dance? was started in 2012 after I met my business partner Matt Flint on the BBC 1 TV show So You Think You Can Dance. It was our aim to create a platform where dancers can be educated and inspired in a supportive and professional environment. We began with one event and have now grown to seven regional conventions, a teachers' convention, and our flagship event the CYD? Super Convention. Alongside this, we have an amazing company of 55 dancers in The CYD? Dance Stars.

The best time to get up at the weekend is?

Weekends are usually a mixture of work and leisure. Weekends are an early start for me spending time with our dancers or at our events. On a Saturday, I'm usually overseeing the set up for one of our Can You Dance? events and on the Sunday it's up at 7am ready to spend the day with thousands of young aspiring performers. If I do get the weekend off, I love to have a lazy morning.

Breakfast or brunch?

I prefer breakfast as this sets me up for the day. I usually have fruit, nuts, yogurt and my morning coffee. On the weekends that I do get the chance to enjoy a relaxed breakfast, I like to cook a nice breakfast, but would still keep it healthy. I love a breakfast burrito with eggs and tend to cook up whatever ingredients I have in the fridge – mushrooms, tomatoes, peppers – and serve with avocado and freshly brewed coffee. The perfect weekend brunch.

What does an ideal Saturday look like?

An ideal Saturday is spent outdoors with my dogs – two black Labradors – and family. Good food, drink and company is very important to me as I spend a lot of time on the road. And equally, if it's a working Saturday, I love nothing more than spending the day with our amazing dancers or at one of our regional events.

What would your perfect Sunday be like?

Lazy morning, coffee and then I'll head to the gym, followed by relaxing in the hot tub finished with a good cold shower. I'll take the dogs out for a nice long walk, watch the rugby, eat good food, socialise, and then settle down in front of the fire with a nice drink and good film or drama playing.

Do you prefer to be indoors or outdoors?

I'm a big outdoors person. I love to get out every day with the dogs and you will usually find me either on the beach or in a forest.

How have weekends changed as you have gotten older?

Now that I'm older, my weekends are more relaxed when I'm not working. I like to make time for myself, and I enjoy going into town for food and drinks.

At weekends you'll always make time to...

Spend time with my close family.

Who would you most like to go for a drink with and why?

I would love to have a drink with my grandma as she loved a good whisky, however I was too young at the time to join her. She was very special to me and will always be a part of my life.

Are you a weekend cook?

I usually like to eat out on the weekend at nice restaurants or get a delivery. However, I like to think I'm a good cook, and when my busy schedule allows, I enjoy trying new dishes. I'd say my speciality dish is a nice curry, with all the sides.

What's your dream Sunday dinner?

It doesn't matter if I'm at home or travelling, you really can't beat a good Sunday roast.

Who do you normally eat Sunday dinner with and where?

If I'm on the road, Sunday dinner will be with our fabulous Can You Dance? teams and if I'm at home, it's the perfect time to catch up with family and friends.

Too tired to cook – what are you ordering from the takeaway?

It would have to be a takeaway from Nando's.

Heading for the cinema? What are you going to see?

I love action films, so Equaliser, John wick, Nobody are all great films.

Staying in... what TV/streaming/catch-up programmes are on the menu?

I'm currently watch the BAY and Yellowstone. I'm a big sports fan and I'm watching loads of rugby with the World Cup currently on.

Bedtime is?

I'm usually in bed between 10.30pm and 11pm. Always with a hot shower, hot drink and TV drama to send me sleep.

Orphaned Spirit Bear Gets New Home

When a young spirit bear named Clover wakes up from his winter hibernation, he will have a new home waiting for him. Clover, who is almost three years old, lives at the B.C. Wildlife Park near Kamloops, British Columbia. He was orphaned as a cub and raised at a wildlife shelter. (1)_____ Wildlife experts tried to get him used to living on his own, but he continued to look for places where there were people. Eventually the experts decided he could not adapt to living in the wild. Normally, a bear that is not afraid of humans is destroyed because it could be a nuisance or even dangerous to people. Spirit bears are very rare, however, so Clover was moved to an enclosure in the B.C. Wildlife Park in October 2012. (2)_____ The city of Kamloops, local businesses and many individuals have donated a total of $750,000 for the habitat. Clover's new home was carefully planned to ensure it contains proper features for a bear. It covers about three acres of land and includes natural forest, two ponds connected by a creek, and a structure for a den. (3)_____ The wildlife park will add a viewing platform and an elevated walkway later this year so visitors can see Clover and his habitat more closely. There will also be an interpretive centre where people can learn more about spirit bears. (4) Eventually, park officials plan to move a female black bear from another part of the park into the habitat so Clover will have a companion.

Spirit bears are also called Kermode bears after Francis Kermode, the zoologist who first studied them. (5) If a cub inherits one of these genes from each parent, its fur will be a creamy white colour. There are about 1,200 bears who carry the gene for white fur, but only about 200 white Kermode bears in the world. Kermode bears are found only in British Columbia. They live in the Great Bear Rainforest, a region that covers the mainland and islands along the coast of B.C. between Vancouver and Alaska.

- A) The local authorities have decided to build a new pump track in the forest for the extreme sports fans.
- B) Since then, the park has been trying to raise money to create a suitable habitat for Clover to live in.
- C) Kermode discovered that a small number of black bears carry a gene for white fur.
- D) When he was released back into the wild, he broke into human camps looking for food.
- E) It is surrounded by a 10-foot-high chain link fence.
- F) When all the facilities are complete, Clover will be moved into his new home when he wakes up in the spring.
- G) After Kermode had graduated from the MIT, he decided to move to Florida.
